Evaluation In Translation Critical Points Of Translator Decision Making:

Evaluation in Translation Jeremy Munday, 2012-06-14 In this book Jeremy Munday presents advances towards a general theory of evaluation in translator decision making that will be of high importance to translator and interpreter training and to descriptive translation analysis By evaluation the author refers to how a translator's subjective stance manifests itself linguistically in a text In a world where translation and interpreting function as a prism through which opposing personal and political views enter a target culture it is crucial to investigate how such views are processed and sometimes subjectively altered by the translator To this end the book focuses on the translation process rather than the product and strives to identify more precisely those points where the translator is most likely to express judgment or evaluation The translations studied cover a range of languages Arabic Chinese Dutch French German Indonesian Italian Japanese Russian Spanish and American Sign Language accompanied by English glosses to facilitate comprehension by readers This is key reading for researchers and postgraduates studying translation theory within Translation and Interpreting Studies

Routledge Encyclopedia of Translation Studies Mona Baker, Gabriela Saldanha, 2019-09-20 The Routledge Encyclopedia of Translation Studies remains the most authoritative reference work for students and scholars interested in engaging with the phenomenon of translation in all its modes and in relation to a wide range of theoretical and methodological traditions This new edition provides a considerably expanded and updated revision of what appeared as Part I in the first and second editions Featuring 132 as opposed to the 75 entries in Part I of the second edition it offers authoritative critical overviews of additional topics such as authorship canonization conquest cosmopolitanism crowdsourced translation dubbing fan audiovisual translation genetic criticism healthcare interpreting hybridity intersectionality legal interpreting media interpreting memory multimodality nonprofessional interpreting note taking orientalism paratexts thick translation war and world literature Each entry ends with a set of annotated references for further reading Entries no longer appearing in this edition including historical overviews that previously appeared as Part II are now available online via the Routledge Translation Studies Portal Designed to support critical reflection teaching and research within as well as beyond the field of translation studies this is an invaluable resource for students and scholars of translation interpreting literary theory and social theory among other disciplines Advances in Discourse Analysis of Translation and Interpreting Binhua Wang, Jeremy Munday, 2020-10-22 This edited thematic collection features latest developments of discourse analysis in translation and interpreting studies It investigates the process of how cultural and ideological intervention is conducted in translation and interpreting using a wide array of discourse analysis and systemic functional linguistic approaches and drawing on empirical data from the Chinese context The book is divided into four main sections I uncovering positioning and ideology in interpreting and translation II linking linguistic approach with socio cultural interpretation III discourse analysis into news translation and IV analysis of multimodal and intersemiotic discourse in translation The different approaches to discourse analysis provide a much needed contribution to the field of translation and interpreting studies This combination of discourse analysis and corpus analysis demonstrates the interconnectedness of these fields and offers a rich source of conceptual and methodological tools This book will appeal to scholars and research students in translation and interpreting studies cross linguistic discourse analysis and Chinese studies Handbook of Translation Studies Yves Gambier, Luc van Doorslaer, 2013 The HTS in both its print and online version provides easy access to a large range of topics traditions and methods in Translation Studies RILA , 2011 Evaluation and Translation Carol Maier, 2014-04-23 The definition of value or quality with respect to work in translation has historically been a particularly vexed issue Today however the growing demand for translations in such fields as technology and business and the increased scrutiny of translators work by scholars in many disciplines is giving rise to a need for more nuanced more specialized and more explicit methods of determining value Some refer to this determination as evaluation others use the term assessment Either way the question is one of measurement and judgement which are always unavoidably subjective and frequently rest on criteria that are not overtly expressed This means that devising more complex evaluative practices involves not only quantitative techniques but also an exploration of the attitudes preferences or individual values on which criteria are established Intended as an interrogation and a critique that can serve to prompt a more thorough and open consideration of evaluative criteria this special issue of The Translator offers examinations of diverse evaluative practices and contains both empirical and hermeneutic work Topics addressed include the evaluation of student translations using more up to date and positive methods such as those employed in corpus studies the translation of non standard language translation into the second language terminology the application of theoretical criteria to practice a social textual perspective and the reviewing of literary translations in the press In addition reviews by a number of literary translators discuss specific translations both into and out of English Linguistics and Language Behavior Abstracts , 2009-02 Evaluating the Evaluator Hansjörg Bittner, 2019-11-28 This book offers a theoretical framework for assessing translation quality grounded in supportive argumentation The volume outlines a systematic framework for translators and translation critics to substantiate their decisions and judgments on a translation s quality and in the case of negative criticism put forward a more effective translation solution The book traces the decision making process underpinning translation practice considering the different factors surrounding a particular translation to inform the most appropriate translation strategy such as the temporal and geographical relationship between source and target texts special provisions required by clients timeframe qualifications and sociocultural and political issues The framework posits that such factors should underpin any arguments used by the translator in adopting a given strategy and in turn that any criticism of a translation s quality must be in line with the same argumentative structure Applied to a corpus of translation examiners reports of translation the book demonstrates how this framework can act as a tool to be scaled to fit the needs of the different actors of a translation translators critics and scholars This book will be of interest to scholars in translation studies and practicing translators International Aerospace Abstracts ,1992 The Software Catalog MENU Staff,Menu,1987 The Publishers' Trade List Annual ,1985 The Philosopher's Index ,1981 Vols for 1969 include a section of abstracts

Optimality in Translation Ali Darwish,2008 Translation may be regarded as a response to a problem of communication usually between two language bound cultural entities The act itself is a multi dimensional and multi layered process involving in one consensual domain problem solving and decision making This book explores translation as a decision making process under constraints It examines these constraints and develops a three tier decision based translation model that can be used in self evaluation of translations and in translation quality assessment The model is anchored in optimality theory and regards translation as a temporary system of conflicting forces embodied by constraints yielding an optimal translation within these constraints Product Description

Translation Quality Assessment Juliane House,2014-10-24 Translation Quality Assessment has become one of the key issues in translation studies This comprehensive and up to date treatment of translation evaluation makes explicit the grounds of judging the worth of a translation and emphasizes that translation is at its core a linguistic art Written by the author of the world s best known model of translation quality assessment Juliane House provides an overview of relevant contemporary interdisciplinary research on intercultural communication and globalization research corpus and psycho and neurolinguistic studies House also acknowledges the importance of socio cultural and situational context in which texts are embedded and which need to be analysed when they are transferred through space and time in acts of translation but also highlights the linguistic art form of translation The text includes a newly revised and presented model of translation quality assessment which like its predecessor relies on detailed textual and culturally informed contextual analysis and comparison The test cases also show that there are two steps in translation evaluation firstly analysis description and explanation secondly judgements of value socio cultural relevance and appropriateness The second is futile without the first to judge is easy to understand less so Translation Quality Assessment is an invaluable resource for students and researchers of Translation Studies and Intercultural Communication as well as for professional translators Knowledge and Skills in Translator Behavior Wolfram Wilss,1996-01-01 This book represents an approach which is intended to give readers a general insight into what translators really do and to explain the concepts and tools of the trade bearing in mind that translation cannot be reduced to simple principles that can easily be separated from each other and thus be handled in isolation On the whole the book is more process than product centred Translation is seen as an activity with an intentional and a social dimension establishing links between a source language community and a target language community and therefore requiring a specific kind of communicative behavior based on the question Who translates what for whom and why To the extent that the underlying principles assumptions and conclusions are convincing to the reader the practical implications of the book last but not least in translation teaching are obvious

Translation Quality Assessment Juliane House, 1997 Translation Criticism- Potentials and Limitations Katharina Reiss, 2014-04-23 Katharina Reiss's now classic contribution to Translation Studies Möglichkeiten und Grenzen der Übersetzungskritik Kategorien und Kriterien für eine sachgerechte Beurteilung von Übersetzungen first appeared in 1971 This is the first English translation of this major work allowing students and practitioners of translation in the English speaking world to make more extensive use of Reiss's pioneering treatment of a central theme in translation how to develop reliable criteria for the systematic evaluation of translations Using a wealth of interesting and varied examples Reiss offers a systematic and illuminating text typology a pragmatic approach to text analysis a functional perspective on translation and a hermeneutic view of the translator thus accounting for some of the most important aspects of the translation process the text both source and target versions the conditions which determine the translator's decisions and the translator as an individual whose personal interpretation has to be respected by any critic In the three decades since Katharina Reiss wrote the terminology of translation studies has evolved on many fronts Erroll Rhodes translation strikes an optimal balance between remaining faithful to the original presentation and using terminology that today's reader would generally understand and value

Translators' Strategies and Creativity Ann Beylard-Ozeroff, Jana Králová, Barbara Moser-Mercer, 1998-01-01 In their contributions the authors reflect upon Levy's thinking on translation as a communication process and on Popović's insistence on the importance of re-creating a text both at the surface and deep levels Examples are drawn from literary translation technical translation from audio visual translation and from interpreting and the authors point out that translators in all domains inevitably come up against linguistic textual and other constraints which if they are to be resolved successfully call upon a translator's and interpreter's strategies and creativity The authors argue that this is the essence of professional decision making in translation according to Levy translation is a decision making process and that translation teachers should help students develop an understanding of translation strategies and of the vital role that creativity plays throughout the translation interpreting process

Translation Quality Assessment Joss Moorkens, Sheila Castilho, Federico Gaspari, Stephen Doherty, 2018 This is the first volume that brings together research and practice from academic and industry settings and a combination of human and machine translation evaluation Its comprehensive collection of papers by leading experts in human and machine translation quality and evaluation who situate current developments and chart future trends fills a clear gap in the literature This is critical to the successful integration of translation technologies in the industry today where the lines between human and machine are becoming increasingly blurred by technology this affects the whole translation landscape from students and trainers to project managers and professionals including in house and freelance translators as well as of course translation scholars and researchers The editors have broad experience in translation quality evaluation research including investigations into professional practice with qualitative and quantitative studies and the contributors are leading experts in their respective fields providing a unique set of complementary perspectives on human and machine translation quality and evaluation combining theoretical and applied approaches
