Dostoevsky and Kant Evgenia Cherkasova,2009 In this book Evgenia Cherkasova brings the philosopher Kant and the novelist Dostoevsky together in conversations that probe why duty is central to our moral life She shows that just as Dostoevsky is indebted to Kant so Kant would profit from the deeply philosophical narratives of Dostoevsky which engage the problem of evil and the claims of human community She not only produces a novel reading of Dostoevsky but also guides us to later often neglected Kantian texts This study is written with scholarly care penetrating analysis elegance of style and moral urgency Cherkasova writes with both mind and heart Emily Grosholz Professor of Philosophy The Pennsylvania State University

Suicide as a Cultural Institution in Dostoevsky's Russia Irina Paperno,2018-09-05 In the popular and scientific imagination suicide has always been an enigmatic act that defies and yet demands explanation Throughout the centuries philosophers and writers journalists and scientists have attempted to endow this act with meaning In the nineteenth century and especially in Russia suicide became the focus for discussion of such issues as the immortality of the soul free will and determinism the physical and the spiritual the individual and the social Analyzing a variety of sources medical reports social treatises legal codes newspaper articles fiction private documents left by suicides Irina Paperno describes the search for the meaning of suicide Paperno focuses on Russia of the 1860s 1880s when suicide was at the center of public attention

Dostoevsky's Religion Steven Cassedy,2005-05-02 Any reader of Dostoevsky is immediately struck by the importance of religion within the world of his fiction That said it is very difficult to locate a coherent set of religious beliefs within Dostoevsky's works and to argue that the writer embraced these beliefs This book provides a trenchant reassessment of his religion by showing how Dostoevsky used his writings as the vehicle for an intense probing of the nature of Christianity of the individual meaning of belief and doubt and of the problems of ethical behavior that arise from these questions The author argues that religion represented for Dostoevsky a welter of conflicting views and stances from philosophical idealism to nationalist messianism The strength of this study lies in its recognition of the absence of a single religious prescription in Dostoevsky's works as well as in its success in tracing the background of the ideas animating Dostoevsky's religious probing
